How to Access the
Department of Behavioral Health Services (DBHS)
Web Page - Titled
“TRIBAL COURT PROCESSES FOR INVOLUNTARY
COMMITMENT - Information Center”

Use your browser to go to the DBHS website:
http://www.azdhs.gov/bhs/index.htm
(It is important to remember that the Tribal web page is accessible from the

This takes you to the Public Information page where the page is located (in alphabetical order) under the title: Tribal Court Processes for Involuntary Commitment.

Click on the title, “Tribal Court Processes for Involuntary Commitment” and the system will take you to the Tribal web page.

- Click on the links located on the web page for more detailed information.
- A contact name and information is located at the bottom of the page to send updates, revisions and suggestions for information that would be beneficial to the Tribal Involuntary Commitment process.

You can also reach the web page using the Behavioral Health A-Z Index link located on the DBHS home page (click on the letter “T” to find the Tribal web page).
