III. POLICY

AHCCCS believes that every person has the capacity to work competitively in the community when the right kind of job and work environment is identified and supports are present. The Contractor shall apply this philosophy of empowerment and opportunity through the implementation of employment programs, measurement of outcomes, and communication with all subcontractors. Employment-related initiatives may be created through the collaboration of AHCCCS and the Contractor.

A. EMPLOYMENT FIRST

The Arizona Employment First Executive Order (2017-08) requires state agencies that provide services and supports to persons who have disabilities to implement Employment First principles and practices and to coordinate efforts to improve employment opportunities for working-age adults who have disabilities. AHCCCS is a required and vital partner in Arizona's Employment First initiative. The Contractor is required to adopt the following principles and ensure service planning and service delivery aligns with these principles:

1. Employment is the first and expected outcome for all working aged Arizonans who have disabilities.

2. Members who have disabilities will have access to competitive integrated work settings.

 - a. Employment supports and services,
 - b. Knowledge about the value of employment on their quality of life,
 - c. Understanding of how work affects public benefits and resources so that employment remains an option to the member without fear of losing essential benefits,

D. CONFLICTS OF INTEREST

Prior to gaining competitive, integrated employment, there are instances where members may participate in different job training programs, such as Center-Based Employment (CBE), Group Supported Employment (GSE), Work Adjustment Training (WAT), or other similar types of pre-vocational programs. Some of these training programs may compensate participating members for work performed to develop the necessary skills to achieve their job goal.

Once a member begins employment/becomes an employee (as defined in this section) with a provider, any employment supports and services provided to that member by that provider shall cease. The member may receive employment supports and services from a different provider.

For purposes of this section, AHCCCS has specified the difference between a member identified as either an employee or trainee.

- 1. EMPLOYMENT/EMPLOYEE: Employment on a full-time or part-time basis (including Customized Employment and self-employment) that pays at or above minimum wage and is competitive, integrated, occupationally normative, and considered to be part of the competitive labor market. “Minimum wage” shall be not less than the higher of the rate specified in section 6 (a)(1) of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 (29 U.S.C. 206 (a)(1) or the rate specified in the applicable state or local minimum wage law. An individual that falls into this category shall be referred to as an “Employee”. An Employee is eligible for the same level of benefits, offered the same opportunities for advancement, and paid at a rate similar to other employees who are not individuals with disabilities and who have similar positions. An Employee also has the opportunity to interact, while performing the duties of the position, with other persons who are not individuals receiving Medicaid employment supports and services (excluding individuals who are employed to provide supports and services to such employee). Opportunities for these interactions may include, but are not limited to, customers, business partners, co-workers, and members of the general public. Employees perform work activities for the primary or personal benefit of the employer, not the individual. Employees may have additional or ongoing job goals, like advancing in their current employment or maintaining their employment.

2. TRAINING/TRAINEE: Paid or unpaid activity on a term-based length of stay (except in limited settings, such as GSE, which could be considered limited-term or long-term) that is designed with the intent to assist individuals to learn basic soft and/or hard work-related skills that lead toward a member’s employment goal documented in his/her service plan. Limited settings can be determined on a case-by-case basis. An individual that falls into this category shall be referred to as a “Trainee”. Activities may include, but are not limited to, on-the-job training, Transition to Employment (TTE), CBE, GSE, WAT, internships, and apprenticeships. These activities are geared toward providing the necessary education and experience that is intended to result in a successful employment outcome. The goal of these activities is to assist the member in achieving the next level of employment. Trainees are individuals who perform work activities for the primary or personal benefit of themselves, as opposed to the benefit of the employer.

As an example, a member is participating in a pre-vocational program with an agency provider with an employment goal of working in an administrative office. As the member progresses in their knowledge, skills, and abilities, the member is hired as a receptionist by the same provider. If employment supports and services were to continue by the member’s employer, the relationship between the member and the provider now creates a conflict of interest. If the member desires or requires continued employment supports and services (e.g. Job Coaching), those supports and services shall be provided by a different provider.

The Contractor is responsible for overseeing the compliance of their subcontracted providers to eliminate any conflicts of interest when it comes to providing Medicaid employment supports and services to members who are considered employees. This may be done through education and training, as well as working with providers to identify employed members who may be receiving employment supports and services.

E. ACC/RBHA WORKFORCE COMPETENCIES

The Contractor is responsible for providing technical assistance to its provider network to ensure a competent workforce as specified in this section. For more information about Workforce Competencies, as specified in ACOM Policy 407.

For members who apply for the RSA/VR program but are placed on a waitlist because of the OOS due to a limited number of functional limitations, or decline participation in the RSA/VR program, provide the necessary employment supports and services to assist those members in achieving their employment goals. This includes assisting members to request a redetermination of the OOS when additional information is provided regarding disability-related barriers, and
